unsuitable for a younger audience

Poet Lemn Sissay and Director/Choreographer Charlotte Vincent present two powerful new works created in collaboration with women and children at Brighton Oasis Project (BOP), evoking the emotional, personal and societal impact of Attachment.

Lemn Sissay will perform a new work, informed by his poetry workshops with BOP clients and his own experience as a 'child of the state'.

Charlotte Vincent has been leading workshops with BOP clients to explore the complex emotional bonds that exist between women in recovery and their partners, children, family and friends. This new collaboration between women from BOP and performers from Vincent Dance Theatre combines hard-hitting real-life testimonies, movement and spoken word.

Insightful and uplifting, this production celebrates the everyday resilience of women and children overcoming adversity whose stories demand to be seen and heard.

Funded by a Wellcome Arts Award and Arts Council England with generous support from Towner Art Gallery.
