

Let The Mountains Lead You to Love brings together performers from Austria, Poland and the UK, celebrating cross European collaboration in a pastoral setting. The company's striking physicality, dark humour and emotionally charged performance style ensure an evening of physical theatre at its raw and startling best.

'Images are socked home like cruise missiles...performed with great commitment...a powerful plea for peace...'

Let The Mountains Lead You To Love

Following the huge success of Drop Dead Gorgeous, Vincent Dance Theatre's new production brings together a cast of versatile and committed performers from Austria, Poland and the UK. Set in a white landscape, strewn with autumn leaves, Let The Mountains Lead You To Love investigates some of the moral and physical urges that get us in and out of sexual trouble. Released from the restrictions of the city, the work explores the confusions of sexuality, the puzzles of sexual attraction and the inevitable imperfections of human behaviour.

Impro 3

Two more glorious evenings of original works, presented in the Studio, devised by Heathfield's Year 11 students. The Centre will be putting on a number of devised pieces in our Studio Theatre throughout the season – details to be announced at a later date.

Friday 7th Mar @ 7.30pm

'Let The Mountains Lead You To Love'

Set in a white landscape, strewn with autumn leaves, this new production is a rich and playful look at love in its various forms, full of vitality, innocence and a healthy dose of cynicism.

Funny, touching and achingly honest, the company's striking physicality, dark humour and emotionally charged performance style ensure an evening of physical theatre at its raw and startling best, with live music.

'Painful to watch and agonising to perform...Images are socked home like cruise missiles...performed with great commitment...a powerful plea for peace...'
